TRU

CONVOCAATION

THOMPSON RIVERS UNIVERSITY

Thompson Rivers University campuses are on the ancestral lands of the Tk'emlúps te Secwépemc (Kamloops campus) and the T'exelc (Williams Lake campus) within Secwepemcúlecw, the traditional and unceded territory of the Secwépemc. The region TRU serves also extends into the territories of the St'át'imc, Nlaka'pamux, Nuxalk, Tsilhqot'in, Dakelh, and Syilx peoples.

MUSIC

Singing by Sage Hills

Sage Hills Singers' name represents the Kamloops area—Tk'emlúps te Secwépemc, "where the rivers meet"—and where the group makes its home. Formed in the winter of 2003, Sage Hills Singers was a finalist for both the Indigenous Music Awards and the Canadian Aboriginal Music Awards in 2011. The drummers include members from Secwépemc, St'át'imc, Syilx, Tsilhqot'in, Lhoosk'uz Dene, Nakota, and Cree Nations.

Piping by Kevin MacDonald, Piper at Large

TRU piper at large Kevin MacDonald has had the honour of summoning the spirit of Kamloops' Scottish links to the university's convocation ceremonies for over 20 years.

National Anthem

O Canada! is sung at the beginning of each ceremony.

O Canada!
Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all of us command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North strong and free!
From far and wide,
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
God keep our land glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

O Canada!
Terre de nos aïeux,
Ton front est ceint de fleurons glorieux!
Car ton bras sait porter l'épée,
Il sait porter la croix!
Ton histoire est une épopée
Des plus brillants exploits.
Et ta valeur, de foi trempée,
Protégera nos foyers et nos droits.
Protégera nos foyers et nos droits.

The Xgwélemc (fox) comes to life in Bill Frymire's four-part art installation on the Kamloops campus.

CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Weytkp xwexwéytep

To TRU's fall graduates, I offer my warmest congratulations on this significant milestone. Convocation marks the completion of a demanding academic journey and a moment of honour shared with your families, communities, faculty, staff, and all who have supported you along the way.

Your convocation celebrates knowledge, perseverance, and achievement. It invites us to honour what you have accomplished, reflect on what you have learned, and recognize that learning continues throughout a lifetime.

For thousands of years, learning on these lands has lived beyond books and buildings. Rooted in Secwepemctsin and the knowledge of the Secwépemc People, on whose unceded territory TRU is located, our Vision calls us to be community-minded with a global conscience and to understand the university as Kw'seltktnéws—a place of belonging, interconnection, and transformation. These ways of knowing remind us that learning carries responsibility: to act with respect, purpose, integrity, and a deep connection to place.

As you move into what comes next—further study, meaningful work, or a path still taking shape—I encourage you to carry forward the values TRU embodies: curiosity, commitment, respect, and care for others. Whatever success comes your way, use your knowledge generously in service to your communities and the wider world.

Carry the spirit of Kw'seltktnéws—our shared interconnection and responsibility to one another—with strength, wisdom, and purpose. I wish you every success and look forward to hearing of all you will achieve. Congratulations once again.

Chancellor
DeDe DeRose

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello. Bonjour. Weyt-kp.

Congratulations on joining the graduating class.

Convocation is a moment of pride, reflection, and gratitude. This moment belongs to graduates, and to the families, supporters, Elders, mentors, faculty, and staff who walked alongside you. Together, we celebrate your success.

You graduate from a university that stands out in ways that matter. Thompson Rivers University is British Columbia's first dual-sector research university, unifying academic programs and research with vocational and skilled trades education. Your TRU specializes in use-inspired education and research applied to the challenges of Interior British Columbia and contributing to national and global futures. This is where a welder and a Masters research student walk the same halls. This creates opportunities with both the "hands" for industry and the "heads" for innovation. Your TRU is redefining what it means to be a university. As a graduate of TRU, you have the skills and knowledge to redefine your future. We know you can make a difference.

Every TRU credential meets and exceeds British Columbia's rigorous quality standards. Our programs are respected across the province and beyond, and our graduates achieve strong employment outcomes in fields that serve communities, industries, and the public good. You can be confident, and proud, of the education you have earned here.

TRU is distinctive in its values. Guided by Secwépemc teachings, we understand our world is relational: we are responsible for one another and for the places we serve. Knowledge at TRU is not abstract. It is applied, ethical, and aimed at leaving the world better than we found it. We know you will lead in good ways.

As graduates, you carry a credential and destiny. You carry the spirit of a university that is forward-thinking, courageous, and deeply connected to its communities. Wherever your path leads, from the Interior of British Columbia to the wider world, you will always be part of our TRU community. We welcome you to the TRU family.

We see you. We see your journey. We are proud of you. Be all that you have been called to be.

Thank you. Merci. Kukwstsétselp.

Dr. Airini
President and Vice-Chancellor

CEREMONIAL MACE

The ceremonial mace remains an important element of convocation. Historically, the mace symbolizes rank and was used to protect people of authority. The ceremonial mace is now a symbol of the university itself. It is carried by the registrar who leads the academic procession and recession.

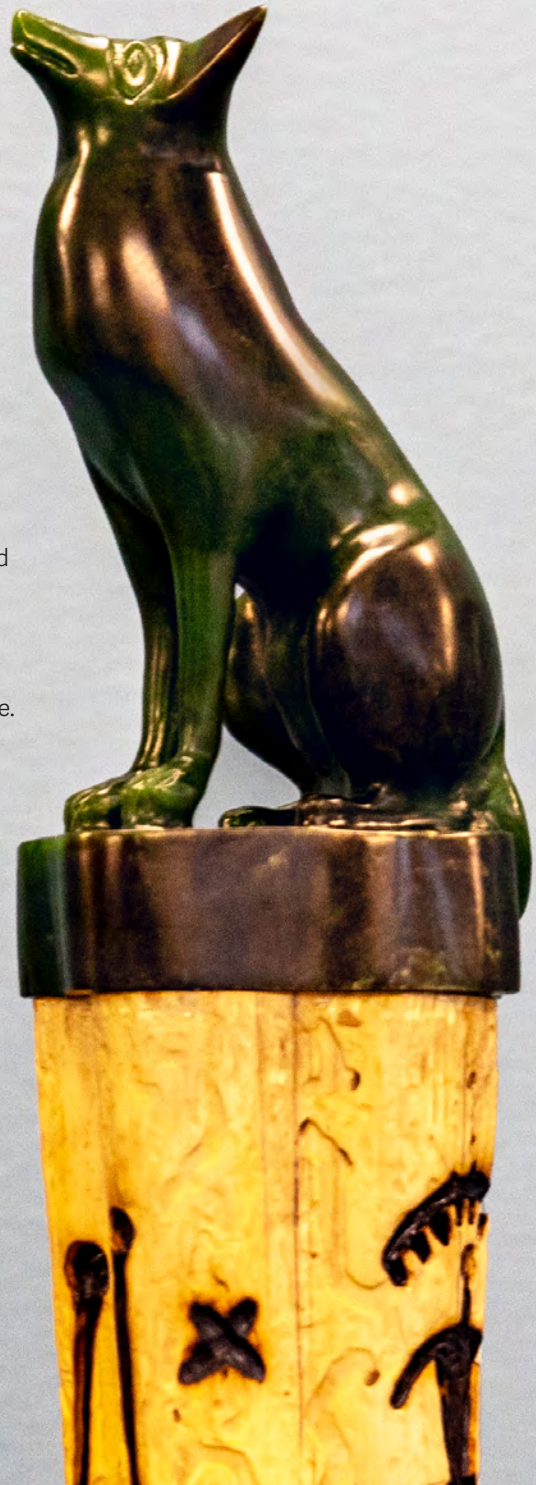

Thompson Rivers University's mace was conceptualized and created by artist Ed Jensen, a member of Tk'emlúps te Secwépemc who is also a knowledge keeper, hunter and hunting guide.

A piece of green jade, polished until it glows, was carved into Skélep, also known as Coyote. Coyote is an important character in Secwépemc stories and while he often got into mischief, his teachings are still shared today. Coyote is the Creator's son and continued his work in creating a space for humans to live, learn and thrive.

Coyote sits atop a piece of juniper carved with pictographs depicting stories of the Secwépemc people.

Juniper is a powerful medicine for the Secwépemc people. It's also a prevalent wood in the Tk'emlúps landscape and has been used for millennia to make tools. The pictographs are painted with red ochre to stand out against the wood.

The mace represents the relationship between Secwepemcúl'ecw, Coyote and the land. The wood stands tall in prayer, like trees and the stone base connects it to the land, Mother Earth.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

TRU's Honorary Degrees are awarded by the Board of Governors on the recommendation of the TRU Senate.

The Honorary Doctorate is the highest form of recognition offered by TRU and is awarded to persons of provincial, national or international stature who have demonstrated excellence in the fields of public affairs, the sciences, arts, humanities, business or philanthropy, with achievements both relevant and appropriate to TRU.

Professor Graham Hingangaroa Smith Doctor of Letters, *honoris causa

Dr. Graham Hingangaroa Smith is an internationally respected Māori scholar and advocate whose work has transformed Indigenous education in Aotearoa New Zealand and around the world. For more than four decades, he has challenged education systems to better serve Indigenous peoples. He developed Kaupapa Māori, a framework grounded in Māori knowledge, culture and self-determination, founded the Māori and Indigenous (MAI) doctoral program and helped establish the Māori Centre of Research Excellence. Across BC and at TRU, he has mentored and collaborated with Indigenous scholars and students. Through lifelong advocacy, Professor Smith has demonstrated the transformative power of Indigenous knowledge and education.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

Convocation ceremonies begin with an academic procession of official representatives, faculty and students dressed in academic regalia. This colourful event represents the rich cultural and historical traditions of universities.

Academic Regalia

Distinctive academic costume has been worn in universities since their inception some 1,000 years ago. Until relatively recently, the basic items—gown, hood and mortarboard—were worn as a part of the everyday life of university. Now largely symbolic, the costume indicates through its colours, trim and lining, the degree and the university giving the award. Blue and sage, TRU's official colours, are featured on many of the academic costumes.

TRU GIVING

Congratulations, graduates, on achieving this life-changing milestone.

Today, TRU Giving, which encompasses the TRU Foundation and Advancement department, celebrates your current and future success, and we are excited to witness the positive impact you will undoubtedly make in your respective fields and communities.

Most importantly, we celebrate your happiness. We know your TRU education will take you far and help you become the best possible version of yourself. As you move forward on your next journey, reflect on the hurdles you overcame. Remember everyone who has supported you and had an impact on your life. As cliché as it sounds, we hope you find ways of making the world a better place.

The TRU Foundation was created to help students overcome some of the obstacles they face in pursuit of education. For over 30 years, the Foundation has been managing funds raised in support of TRU students. With generosity from thousands of donors, TRU Giving provides financial support and scholarships to more than 1,300 students every year, and funds initiatives and projects to enhance the educational experience at the university.

Generations of TRU alumni have charitably supported higher education and we are immensely grateful for their involvement. In recent years, alumni have stepped up to create endowments, fund annual awards and support events such as TRU Day of Giving. One day down the road, we hope you consider students when making decisions about your own charitable giving. Helping students reach for their dreams is rewarding and no gift is too small to make a difference.

Even if you aren't in a position to give financially, there are opportunities to give your time by volunteering at TRU Giving events—where you can see philanthropy in action.

Congratulations once again and best wishes for a bright and fulfilling future!

Diana Major
Executive Director, Advancement

WELCOME TO TRU ALUMNI

Graduating class of 2026,

Congratulations and welcome to the TRU Alumni community! As a graduate, you are joining a diverse and dynamic network that spans generations and continents. You are now part of a 56-year legacy that began as Cariboo College in Kamloops, B.C., on the ancestral lands of the Tk'emlúps te Secwépemc, and has grown into a global community of passionate graduates, mentors and friends who proudly support one another—today and always.

Community matters, and you are an important part of ours. This moment marks the beginning of your next chapter, and whatever path you choose, we want to celebrate your journey. We look forward to sharing your story so fellow alumni stay connected and current TRU students can be inspired by your success.

Being part of the TRU Alumni community comes with lifelong benefits. More than 100,000 TRU alumni live and work in 115 countries around the world. Over the past year, alumni have come together across Canada through AlumNights, socials, speaker series and celebrations. These opportunities are designed to help you build meaningful connections—connections that can offer guidance, friendship, mentorship and networking for years to come. Your fellow alumni understand the transitions you're experiencing and bring valuable insight from careers, further education, entrepreneurship and beyond.

Stay connected through TRU Alumni, which coordinates events, services and benefits available to you for life. Learn more and explore upcoming opportunities through the TRU Alumni Network Portal at alumnicconnect.tru.ca.

You will always belong here, and we are proud to welcome you.

You are TRU Alumni for life.

Kind regards,

Andy Do

COAT OF ARMS

Granted by Robert Douglas Watt, Chief Herald of Canada, on April 1, 2005, and entered in Volume IV, page 451 of the Public Register of Arms, Flags and Badges of Canada.

Arms: The blue field refers to the brilliant skies, lakes and rivers that envelop the region where Thompson Rivers University is located. The wavy circle around the sun stands for the sacred circle of life and the never-ending character of learning. It also recalls that TRU is located near the junction of several vital water sources. The sun symbolizes light and learning, a principal endeavour behind academic institutions.

Crest: The coronet honours the Indigenous peoples of the region by acknowledging the importance of fish as food and for recreation in their communities and the community at large. The black bear represents strength, power and determination, important qualities for TRU's success. The mythical winged bear is a reference to migratory birds, suggesting perpetual striving for excellence across all faculties and programs.

Motto: T7ETSXEMÍNTE RE STSELXMÉM means "to strive ahead" in Secwepemctsin. It is TRU's motto, indicating the journey of learning is enduring and unrelenting.

Supporters: The mare and stallion symbolize grace, power and endurance, characterizing TRU's approach to learning and growth. They also refer to the role of horses in farming and ranching in the region—past and present. Their sage collars reflect the distinct landscape. The collar medallions feature open books and echo the motif of the active pursuit of knowledge. The mare and stallion stand on the natural environment surrounding the university.

Original concept: Robert D. Watt, Chief Herald of Canada, assisted by the Heralds of Canadian Heraldic Authority.

Painter: Linda Nicholson

Calligrapher: Shirley Mangione

THE FLAG OF TRU

The sun that appears on TRU's flag is taken from the centre of the coat of arms. The blue field refers to the brilliant skies, lakes and rivers in the region. The sun is a symbol of light and learning. It is surrounded by a wavy circle that represents the sacred circle of life, often a symbol in Indigenous beliefs. The wavy feature of the circle also recalls that the university is located near a junction of several water sources important to all who live in the region.
